

What is Middleware?

23 March 2024 01:24 AM

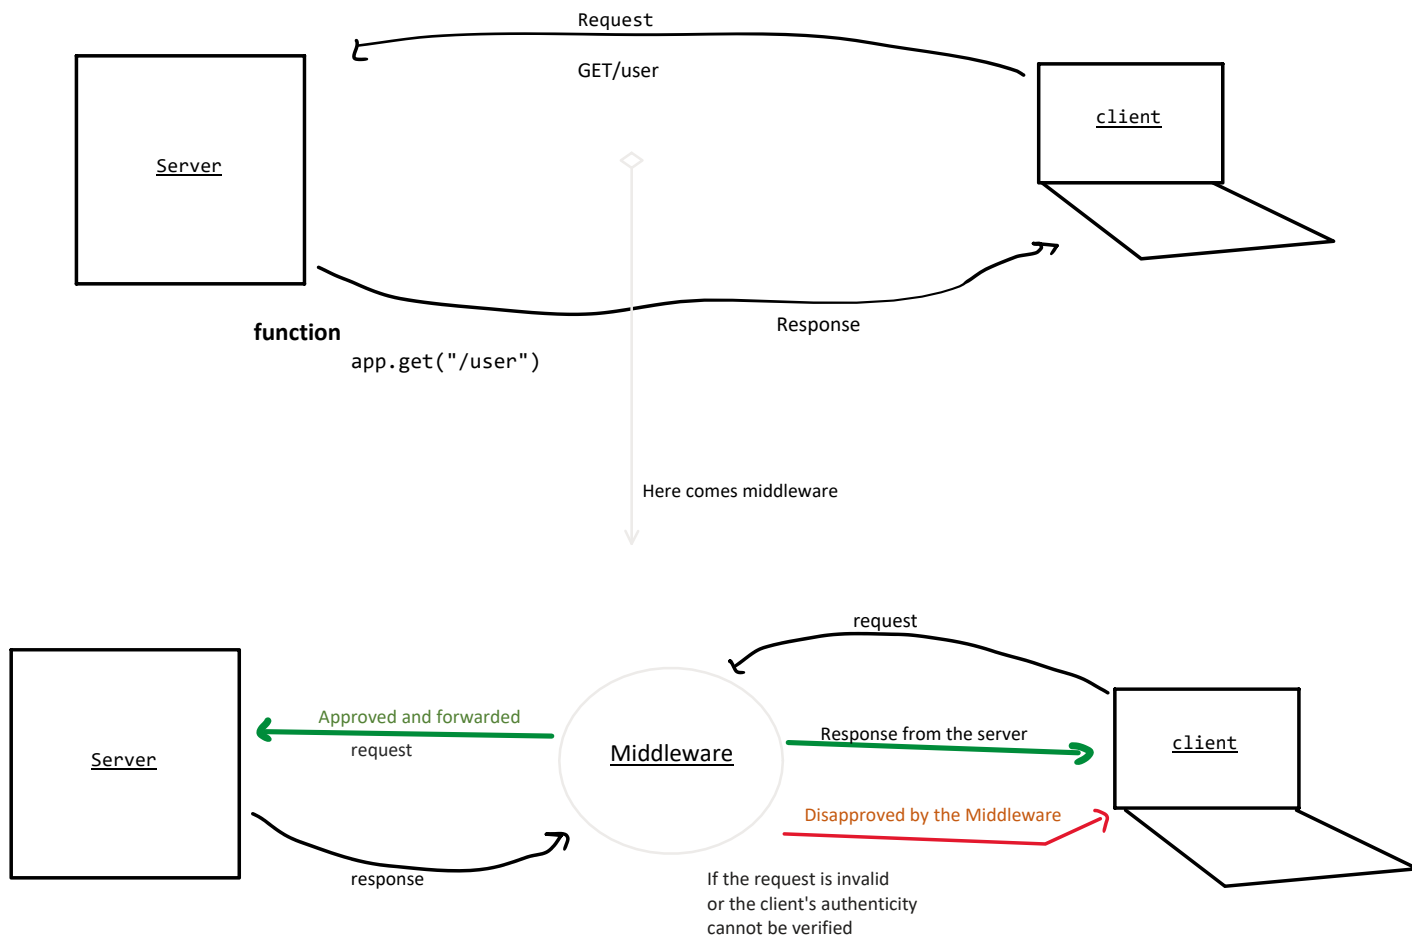

Middleware is a function which run on every request and response and determine whether to approve the request or return it back!

The functionality bears resemblance to that of a plugin

★ The application of this concept is well explained in the

RestAPIs repository

<https://github.com/ashesbloom/RestAPIs>

Note:-

There can be many middleware in between the client and the server each severing their own purpose
Suppose one middleware (M1) is used for authentication client another (M2) for checking credentials and etc..
